

Our hygiene concept for courses and telc examinations (October 2020)

Due to the current situation, special regulations must be observed for face-to-face instruction and when conducting examinations.

The following are excluded from attendance classes/examinations:

- Persons with cold symptoms and other signs (e.g. cough, fever, loss of taste, breath problems)
 - Persons who have had contact with a quarantined person in the last 14 days
 - Persons who have stayed in a designated coronary risk area (according to RKI) in the last 14 days

General information:

- A mouth/nose protection must be worn when entering the school, in the office, corridors and toilets. This protection may only be removed once you have taken your seat in the course/examination room. The mouth-and-nose protection must be brought by each person entering Alinguas.
- After entering the school, hands must be washed or disinfected. Disinfectants are available in the office and in the corridor. Liquid soap and disposable towels are available in the WCs.
- A minimum distance of 1.5 metres must be maintained between participants. Seats are arranged accordingly.
- Only the designated workstations are to be used during the course/exam.
- Pens and other working materials must be brought by each participant.
- The course/examination rooms are regularly ventilated for 10 minutes.
- During the breaks, participants may only stay in the classrooms (here the minimum distance of 1.5 metres must be maintained) or in front of the school. Group formation up to a maximum of 10 people!
- It is not permitted to stay in the corridors.
- If you suspect an infection with the Corona virus or a confirmed infection, please inform us immediately!
